OVER THE NORTHERN ANDES IN COLOMBIA.

2. Looking across the Fertile Cauca River Valley with its Sugar Cane Fields and Cocoa Plantations to the Mountains 50 Miles away.
3. Colombia has only a Few Hundred Miles of Railroads. In Many Parts of the Country the Mountains make Railroad Building difficult and expensive.
4. The Station, La Cumbre, at the Summit of the Pass 5000 Feet above Sea Level.
5. People from the Hot Valley come here to Enjoy the Cool Mountain Air.
6. Down the Steep Slopes of the Mountain to the Pacific.
7. The River is now Low. In the Rainy Season it is a Raging Torrent.
8. Approaching Buenaventura, the Chief Sea Port of Colombia on the Pacific Ocean.
9. Harbor of Buenaventura.
10. Scenes along the Waterfront.
11. Thatch-roofed Huts on Stilts along the Shore. The Cable Station is in the Wooden Frame House, the only one of the Kind in Buenaventura.
12. Boat traffic in the Harbor. Ships anchor Some Distance from Shore and Goods to be landed are transferred to Native Boats. Many of these are Dug-outs.
13. No Horses or Carts are Used. All Freight is Carried by Natives.
14. Several of the Larger Boats furnish Homes for the Natives.
15. Some of the People live under the Wharves.
16. The Huts near the Shore are Damp and Unhealthful.
17. The Main Street in Buenaventura.
18. Everybody's doing it - even the Natives!
19. Look this Way, Please - and Smile!

COCOA SUB-TITLES.

1. A Cocoa Plantation in Colombia.
2. From a Distance a Cocoa Plantation has the Appearance of a Forest. Rapid Growing Cachimbo Trees are planted with the Cocoa Trees to protect them from the Sun.
3. A River flows through this Plantation, which covers 80 Square Miles.
4. The Owner and a Guest ride through the Plantation. The Guest is anxious to pick a Cup of Cocoa from the Tree.
5. He finds to his Surprise that the Cocoa grows in Pods closely attached to the Trunk and the Branches of the Cocoa Tree.
6. A Native opens a Pod with his Little "Machete" without which no Colombian is fully dressed.
7. The Native removes a Husky Bean from the Pod and shows the Visitor how to plant Cocoa Beans.
8. "Great Oaks from Little Acorns grow" and the Cocoa Bean starts out on "its own." It gets this far in a Month.
9. Business is Good and at the End of Three Months the Seedling is still progressting.
10. The Young Tree needs Protection and a Friendly Banana Tree shades it from the Heat of the Sun.
11. At the End of Three Years the Young Sprout is beginning to look like a "regular fellow."
12. Plantation Help - who are born and die on the Same Plantation. Only when out of Debt to his Employer, who supplies him with Food and Clothing, is he Free to Leave. He never leaves.
13. Women's Rights are admitted without voting in the matter. These have the right to work and brigh Forked Poles, with which to work. They are removing the Cocoa Pods from the Trees.
14. Even Boys in Colombia are persuaded to work. They gather the Pods in Bags and carry them to Girls who open the Pods and remove the Beans.
15. The Cocoa Tree belongs to No Union. It works all the Time and produces Blossoms and Pods without resting. Here are three Pods from the Same Tree - the Big Pod, the Middle-sized Pod, and the Little Pod.
16. And when the Pods are opened the Beans begin to Show.
17. Opening Cocoa Pods - an Outdoor Sport in Colombia.
18. Takes the Place of Knitting.

19. Sardine Cannery learned how to pack Sardines from looking at an Opened Cocoa Pod.
20. Why feed our Cattle on Grain? Our Cattle eat Grain and lessen the Supply. A Lessened Supply brings about High Priced Grain, and High Priced Grain fed to Cattle makes High Priced Beef and Dear Beef makes Vegetarians, and being Vegetarians makes us Mad. Feed the "Critters" on Cocoa Pods.
21. Blossoms and Pods grow from the Trunk and Branches of the Tree at the Same Time.
22. A Leaf of the Cocoa Tree.
23. The Beans are wrapped in Leaves and allowed to ferment. They are then spread on Trays to dry. Frequent Raking insures Even Drying.
24. The Beans are piled up, put into Bags, and shipped.
25. Cocoa Beans Ready for Shipment. The Bean of the Cocoa Tree yields Cocoa, Cocoa Butter and Chocolate. With its Change of Name comes a change in Price. When wrapped around a Little Sugar, Vanilla, and Cream it stands Georgia a Dollar a Pound.
